Meet Tucker

After a childhood spent building and tinkering, engineering just came naturally to Tucker Kirven. Today he’s helping middle school students discover their scientific interests through Vanderbilt Student Volunteers for Science. Tucker’s scholarship—made possible through the generous supporters of Opportunity Vanderbilt—allows him to share his knowledge with the country’s next generation of engineers.

Tucker is the recipient of the Kevin R. Putney Memorial Scholarship.